[The Reassessment of the Relationship between Church and State in the New Federal States (Länder) in the Agreements between Church and State. The Possibilities and Limits of Shaping the Agreements between Church and State. By Hans Ulrich Anke.]

Published in German.

After German reunification, the new German federal states had to restructure their relationship to the various religious communities, and thus they signed 17 contracts with the Holy See, the regional churches and Jewish associations. In this work, the author presents and systematizes the content of these state contracts. He explains the 4 basic functions of contracts between the state and religious communities as being to organize their cooperation, to support religious activities, to consolidate the existing guarantees and to lay down ecclesiastical duties.

Hans Ulrich Anke ist Präsident des Kirchenamtes der EKD und Leiter der Hauptabteilung I »Leitung, Recht und Finanzen«.
