Die Semantik von Ijob 6–7

Erschließung ihrer Struktur und einzelner Lexeme mittels Isotopieanalyse

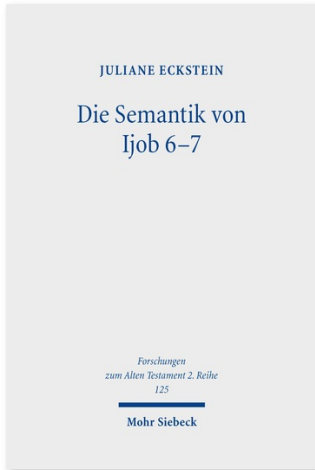

[The Semantics of Job 6–7. Interpretation of Its Structure and of Individual Lexemes Using Isotopy Analysis.]

Published in German.

Juliane Eckstein explains several contested words in the Hebrew Book of Job. For this she combines well-established methods of exegetical research with an innovative method – the Isotopy Analysis. This she adapts to Biblical Hebrew in general and to the study of Job 6–7 in particular.

Juliane Eckstein Geboren 1983; 2009–14 Studium der Kath. Theologie; 2014–20 Promotionsstudium Katholische Theologie in München; 2014–17 Doctoral Fellow an der LMU Graduate School Distant Worlds München; seit 2018 Wissenschaftliche Mitarbeiterin an der Philosophisch-Theologischen Hochschule Sankt Georgen in Frankfurt/Main.
