Gesetzlich nicht geregelte Schuldverträge
Rechtsfindung und Inhaltskontrolle

[Contracts not Regulated by Law. Determining the Law and Controlling its Content. By Markus Stoffels.]

Published in German.
In this work, Markus Stoffels focuses on various types of modern contracts, such as for example leasing or franchising agreements, and shows ways of developing a systematic concept for determining the law for these, of checking the content of the law pertaining to these and of monitoring the content of these agreements, which are usually formulated in advance, effectively. In doing so, what he discovers is, apart from the concrete subject under examination, of general significance for the law pertaining to the general terms and conditions of trade or business. In conclusion, the author asks if and in what way the current system concerning contracts needs to be changed. In this respect, this analysis can also be regarded as a contribution to the current discussion on the reform of the law of obligations.

Markus Stoffels ist Professor für Bürgerliches Recht, Arbeitsrecht und Unternehmensrecht an der Universität Heidelberg (Institut für Bürgerliches Recht, Arbeitsrecht und Insolvenzrecht).
