In this concise compendium, Tom Kleffmann provides a complete concept of systematic theology, a design of the coherence of the Christian message. The book is an up-to-date, compact summary of theology which the reader can use for orientation and at the same for forming an own opinion. The book is divided into four »circles«, each of which depicts the whole in a specific respect. In each of the 17 »guiding themes« the most important hypotheses are presented at the beginning of a new section. The first circle presents the concept. The second circle examines it from the perspective of the relationship between intellect, reason and faith. The third circle comprises the doctrine of sin, Christology, the theology of creation and soteriology. The fourth circle summarizes what has been said up to now in the doctrine of the Trinitarian life of God.

Tom Kleffmann Geboren 1960; Studium der Philosophie, Geschichte und Theologie in Göttingen und Tübingen; 1993 Promotion; 1998 Ordination; 2001 Habilitation; 2005–06 Gastprofessor an der Humboldt-Universität Berlin; seit 2006 Professor für Systematische Theologie an der Universität Kassel.
