[Resources in a Global Context. Protection and Sustainable Use.]

Published in German.

The heavens, our planet and its aquatic systems all provide the earth's inhabitants with important resources. Threats posed by space debris from malfunctioning satellites, the protection of soil and bio-diversity, the pollution of waters through plastic and micro pollutants, the impact of bio-patents, as well as the international efforts afoot to protect resources are at the heart of this interdisciplinary volume's contributions.
