Uses and Misuses of International Economic Law

Private Standards and Trade in Goods in the WTO and the EU

[Nutzen und Missbrauch des internationalen Wirtschaftsrechts. Private Normen und Warenhandel in der WTO und der EU.]

Published in English.

Standardization is a classic form of rulemaking. Nonetheless, it is notoriously diffuse and gives rise to questions and debate; in particular over the standards' normativity, legitimacy and nature – whether public or private, national or international. Moritz J. K. Blenk applies a policy-orientated approach to international law to comparatively analyze the role of private rulemaking within the context of international economic integration in the World Trade Organization and the European Union. He thereby aims to elucidate the opaque phenomenon of private standardization from a legal perspective and, more profoundly, shed new light on economic integration.

Moritz J. K. Blenk Born 1991; law studies in Freiburg i. Br. and Geneva; 2016 First State Examination; research assistant at Albert-Ludwigs-Universität Freiburg, Institute for Public Law, Department 1, European and International Law; 2019 Legal Clerkship at the Higher Regional Court Rostock (2022 Permanent Mission of the Federal Republic of Germany to the OSCE); 2022 doctorate.
