Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts

Edited by Justices of the German Federal Constitutional Court

The BVerfGE – Rulings of the Federal Constitutional Court.

Sixty seven years and more than a hundred volumes into its history, the BVerfGE is one of the most influential and widely cited publications in German jurisprudence. Launched in 1952, it contains all the court's senate decisions in their full length, including the five most cited German court rulings ever. The collection has grown annually since the founding of the Federal Constitutional Court in 1951, and new volumes are now added several times a year. The abbreviated citation form BVerfGE is a household name among German jurists, many of whom regard it as the authoritative collection.

The Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts is part of the Verfassungsrecht PREMIUM collection, which is available at beck-online.de.

Contact:
Daniela Taudt, LL.M. Eur.
Program Director Public Law, International and European Law, and Fundamentals of Law

ISSN: 0433-7646 - Suggested citation: BVerfGE

Last updated: 04/01/2021. Prices are subject to change.

Order now:
order@mohrsiebeck.com
Phone: +49 (0)7071-923-0
Fax: +49 (0)7071-51104
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Komplettangebot: Bände 1–152 mit Registerbänden und Grundwerk der CD-ROM

The official compilation of the decisions made by the Federal Constitutional Court of Germany presently consists of 147 volumes containing a total of approx. 3300 decisions. The CD-ROM contains all these decisions, has exactly the same page make-up as the printed version and a user-friendly program interface. It is possible to browse through all the decisions and also to access individual decisions or passages directly. The decisions are linked, can be highlighted partially and notes can be appended to them.

System requirements: Microsoft Windows up to and including Windows 10. Not compatible with either Linux or macOS.

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 141–150

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Bände 1–149 auf CD-ROM (auch für Nicht-Abonnenten erhältlich)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

System requirements: Microsoft Windows up to and including Windows 10. Not compatible with either Linux or macOS.

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Update CD-ROM -Einzelplatzversion-

Update CD-ROM und gebundener Band -Einzelplatzversion-

Update CD-ROM und Band in Lieferungen -Einzelplatzversion-
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

System requirements: Microsoft Windows up to and including Windows 10. Not compatible with either Linux or macOS.

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Grundwerk -Netzwerkversion-

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 147

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 146

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 145

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 144

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 143

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 142

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 141

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 131–140

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts

Last updated: 04/01/2021

Page 4 of 29
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 140

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Mitglieder des

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 128

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 127

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 126

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 125

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 123

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 122

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 121

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 111–120

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 120

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 119

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 113

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 112

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 111

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 101–110

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 110

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periods of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
Band 109

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periods of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
Band 108

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periods of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
Band 107

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periods of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
Band 106

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periods of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
Band 105

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periods of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 104

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 103

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 102

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Band 101

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 91–100

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts

Last updated: 04/01/2021

Page 12 of 29
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 81–90

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 71–80

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 61–70. Mit Anhang:
Übersicht über sämtliche in den Bänden 1–70 veröffentlichten Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts

Volume 61-70
ISBN 9783166451756
cloth 84,00 €

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Volume 66
ISBN 9783166448824
cloth 45,00 €

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Volume 70
ISBN 9783166445027
cloth 45,00 €

Volume 69
1985. IV, 434 pages.
ISBN 9783166450155
cloth 45,00 €

Volume 68
ISBN 9783166449548
cloth 45,00 €

Volume 67
ISBN 9783166448831
cloth 45,00 €

Volume 70
ISBN 9783166445027
cloth 45,00 €

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative »official court report«. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 51–60

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court reports. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 41–50

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions — on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 31–40

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative ofﬁcial court report. Its highlights include the ﬁve most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative ofﬁcial court report. Its highlights include the ﬁve most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative ofﬁcial court report. Its highlights include the ﬁve most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative ofﬁcial court report. Its highlights include the ﬁve most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative ofﬁcial court report. Its highlights include the ﬁve most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 21–30

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 21–30

Mohr Siebeck

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts

Last updated: 04/01/2021

Page 24 of 29
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court reports». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 11–20

Bearb. v. Haager, Karl /Rupprecht, Reinhard

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative «official court report». Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)
The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation »BVerfGE«, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

Registerband zu den Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts, Band 1–10

Bearb. v. Grundmann, Werner

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court's establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE», the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth's call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).
Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE>, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE>, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE>, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE>, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE>, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).

Entscheidungen des Bundesverfassungsgerichts (BVerfGE)

The collection of cases decided by the German Federal Constitutional Court (FCC) is among the most influential and most-cited periodicals of German jurisprudence. It contains all senate decisions by the Federal Constitutional Court in unabridged edition. Initiated upon the Court’s establishment in 1951, the collection is now updated several times a year. Known to every German lawyer under its abbreviation «BVerfGE>, the collection is often considered the authoritative official court report. Its highlights include the five most-cited German court decisions – on the 1987 census (BVerfGE 65, 1), on Hamburg senator Lüth’s call for a film boycott 1958 (BVerfGE 7, 198), on the fast breeder reactor in Kalkar 1972 (BVerfGE 49, 89), on the legality of abortion (BVerfGE 39, 1) and on the Worker Codetermination Act 1976 (BVerfGE 50, 290).